MaineStage Shakespeare's Fifth Season to Feature Twelfth Night, Caesar

Kennebunk, ME, February 11, 2015 – This summer, the Kennebunks can look forward to an exciting fifth season from MaineStage Shakespeare, headlined by two of Shakespeare's finest plays: Twelfth Night and Julius Caesar.

MaineStage Shakespeare has performed in the Kennebunks since summer of 2011, earning a reputation for exuberant productions that are exciting and accessible for theatregoers both old and new. All of the company's performances are free to attend.

The 2015 season features Twelfth Night, or What You Will, a wry take on love that is often rated as Shakespeare's best comedy, and The Tragedy of Julius Caesar, a gripping historical thriller. Fans of previous seasons can expect to see some familiar faces, as a number of actors from past summers are slated to appear.

2015 will also see the return of of ShakeSTARS, MaineStage's beloved theater education camp. In addition to classes in stage voice, improvisation, storytelling, stage combat, and more, kids can look forward to performing in the Saturday Shakestacular, a cabaret-style assortment of scenes, speeches, and songs tailored specifically to the talents of each week's campers.

The season will run from July 10 to August 22.
